

Council Considers Bitulithic Pavement

Machine Telephone Co. Write That Their Plant Will Be Ready On Time

At the city council meeting last night Mayor May opened the proceedings by presenting his report on the various pavements he had examined during his visit east.

A letter from the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. was read in which the company stated that they would be ready on time with their equipment.

The bylaw for the purpose of raising $63,000 for the purchase of the agricultural grounds was read and prepared for submission to the rate payers. The date fixed for the voting was December 17th. John McLennan was named as returning officer, and H. J. Hillwill deputy returning officer.

The by-law for the purpose of raising the money for the purchase of a site for the incinerator and for the construction of the plant was also read and prepared for submission at the same time. The cost of the plant is fixed at $40,500, and the debentures will be at the 20 year equal annual payment plan. The site selected is already the property of the city, but as it is now in the real estate column of the city's books, $4,500 was added to the amount named in the bylaw, making the total $45,000.

Alderman Smith asked if this definitely fixed the Kinsistino-Clark corner as he understood that there was going to be opposition to that site. The Mayor answered that it did not; that it merely named the amount for the purchase of the site.

The bylaw for the purpose of increasing the number of aldermen to 10 was laid over at Alderman Griebach's request as one of his principal supporters. Alderman Mays, was not present. The other aldermen consented.

CANDIDATE IN GLEICHEN.

Liberal Convention Probably the Largest Yet Held in an Alberta Provincial Constituency.

Bulletin Special.

Calgary, Nov. 10.—A large enthusiasm which knew no bounds, and with the largest quota of delegates that have ever attended a nominating convention in a provincial riding in Alberta, the Liberal convention of the riding of Gleichen last night elected Mr. E. H. Riley to carry the banner of Liberalism to victory in the by-election created by the death of the late member, C. A. Stuart to the supreme court bench. From its most remote corners of the large and scattered riding the sturdy supporters of the Liberal administration came to show their approval and appreciation of the government, and altogether some seventy-five delegates were personally present.

A Bloody Fight

BETWEEN RANGERS AND MEXICANS.

Texas Police Body Attacked by Armed Mexicans—Further Trouble Feared.

Bulletin Special.

Brown's Valley, Texas, Nov. 10.—A detachment of Texas rangers en route to Rio Grande city to investigate the assassination of Judge Welch, which occurred Monday night, were attacked by a body of armed Mexicans and a bloody fight resulted. Governor Latham is rushing troops to the scene and the situation is regarded as critical. More fighting is expected before the troops arrive. The Mexicans are said to be aroused over the opposition to their voting in the recent election.

WANT MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL.

Regina, Sask., Nov. 9.—At a meeting of the board of hospital directors tonight, it was decided to approach the city council with a view to having a bylaw presented to the ratepayers authorizing the sum of $100,000 to be raised by debentures for the purpose of erecting a fully equipped municipal hospital. The directors propose to sell the property, which is now quite inadequate for the needs of the district and make over the proceeds estimated at $30,000 to the municipal institution.

A BOMB FOR THE JUDGES.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 9.—A powerful bomb was found last night in the town of Warren, the capital of Warcell of a man named Rudenko, accused of an attempt to kill Col. Spiridovich, chief of the secret service police, whose trial was to begin today. The bomb was concealed in the prisoner's mattress and was to have been thrown at the judges during the trial. Rudenko's trial has been transferred to a drum head court martial.

STEAMERS SAFE.

Halifax, Nov. 9.—The steamers Finn and Snyrna, concerning which there was much anxiety, have both turned up safely. The Snyrna passed Quebec at noon yesterday, and is now probably at Montreal. Tonight the coal company received a wire from the captain of the tug, Douglas H. Thomas, which was sent in search of the Finn, that the large steamer had been anchored in the lee of St. Paul's island for several days and that at 9 o'clock this morning she had raised her anchor and proceeded on her way. While the boat was not identified positively as the Finn, there is no doubt it was the missing steamer.

Would-Be Burglar

CAUGHT AT RED DEER.

Captured in Alberta Hotel While Supposedly Preparing to Rifle Slot Machine.

November 9th—A month or so ago the Alberta hotel billiard parlors were broken into and the Calles slot machine relieved of its plunder.

In interviewing Mr. Vickers, manager of the room, at that time, he expressed the wish that the burglar would call again.

This appears to have been taken in earnest, if not by the same man by someone else, for on Tuesday morning indications were found that an attempt to gain an entrance to the billiard room had been made but the thief had been frightened away by one of the hotel employees.

Judging that the midnight marauder would return the next night, Mr. Vickers and Mr. Walter Price entered themselves behind the cigar counter at the north end of the room at closing time, and with revolvers in hand prepared for an all night vigil. It was a weary wait. The sounds in the hotel above gradually died away, and it was not until nearly half past four that some one was heard trying to obtain an entrance from the back door leading from the furnace room.

An attempt would be made to force the door, then a few shovels full of coal thrown on the fire in order to deaden suspicion.

After a few more attempts the noise stopped, and Manager Vickers began to think his long vigil had been in vain. A few minutes later, however, a noise was heard at the west window and a minute later an entrance was effected.

After giving the burglar time to cross the room, Messrs. Vickers and Price came out of their corner and ordered him to throw up his hands. This he did, and Vickers telling Price to keep him covered, started for the police. Turning at the door, however, he saw that the burglar was gradually approaching Price, who not caring to shoot the man, was backing up. Ordering him to stop, Vickers fired into the wall beside him. With a cry of "For God's sake, don't shoot me," the erstwhile desperado backed up and sat down next the cause of his downfall.

Chief of Police Rothnie was soon on hand to lead him to the cells.

The burglar proved to be one Edgar Hull, formerly porter in the Alberta, and since engaged at the new C.P.R. roundhouse.

Doyle is Free

JURY FINDS HIM NOT GUILTY

Evidence Was Purely Circumstantial and Some of it Unreliable.

Bulletin Special.

Morden, Man., Nov. 9.—Martin Doyle, charged with the murder of Vincent Weiler, was found not guilty by the jury today. His lordship, Mr. Justice Richards, charged strongly in favor of the accused, pointing out that the evidence was largely circumstantial and some of it unworthy of credence. The trial which has proved most sensational and of absorbing interest, had a tame conclusion, as when the verdict was brought in there were very few present and there was no demonstration whatever.

REMAINS FOUND AT CARLISLE.

Carlisle, Sask., Nov. 9.—The remains of Charles Shirley, who, for some time was employed in the law office of W. H. Williams, of this town, but who disappeared about three weeks ago were this afternoon found lying in a bluff about 40 rods from the town. It is thought that he committed suicide in a fit of despondency.

Fire at the Fort

PAUL'S TAILOR SHOP BURNED.

Stock and Fixtures Entirely Destroyed—Stock and Fixtures in the Same Building Saved.

Fort, Saskatchewan, Nov. 9.—At four o'clock this morning a most disastrous fire broke out in John Paul's tailor shop and dwelling house. A few moments after the alarm sounded, the fire engine, hose carts, etc., were on the scene, but despite the valiant efforts of the firemen, the whole stock of ready-made clothing, underclothing, cloth trimmings, sewing machines and all tailoring fixtures were entirely demolished. Some of the household furniture was saved. The post office, which was in the same building, was saved. The fire started from the inside, cause unknown. This is the first time the new fire engine and apparatus has been in active service, and they proved thoroughly satisfactory. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Paul and family in their serious loss, there being no insurance.

Mr. A. W. M. Campbell owned the building, which was well insured. Mr. Paul will open up business again as soon as possible, in the office recently occupied by H. E. Daniel.

With so much snow, good sleighing, and cold weather, the fever germ will surely disappear.

The provincial government has sent a fine map of the Dominion of Canada to the Presbyterian church here, for use in missionary work. At the last meeting of the W. H. M. S. Rev. A. F. Forbes culled this of recent missions.

Mr. James Bell of Winnipeg, and western representative of the Bell Foundry Works at St. George, Ontario, spent a few days in the Fort last week, establishing their agency at this point with Messrs. Kelly and Warren.

Mr. Walter Armstrong, of Edmonton, was in town on Wednesday on business.

Mr. John Chalmers, C. N. R. bridge engineer, is in town on business and is renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Charlesworth accompanied Mr. Chalmers.

Messrs. J. Rae and W. A. Deyl were in town yesterday.

The Fort's Sistrar Orchestra company are engaged to give one of their excellent engagements here on the 21st inst., under the auspices of the Presbyterian church choir. This company comes with first-class recommendations and a treat is expected.

Battleford People

HAVE THE GOLD CRAZE.

Reports of Rich Gold Finds Continue to Arouse Interest.

Bulletin Special.

North Battleford, Nov. 9.—Reports from prospectors who started early for Birling after the gold find was announced tend to verify and even magnify former reports which reached here. The town is in a fever of expectancy. Many have already left for Birling and Saturday will see a great rush from here. It is reported here tonight that a rich strike of gold was made today at Maidstone, six miles west of Birling. The gold vein at Birling contained 26 square miles extending from a point three miles south of the C. N. R. tracks to a point ten miles north.

CANORA SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Canora, Sask., Nov. 9.—A shooting accident occurred Thursday afternoon, when the four year old boy of Henry Regan, section foreman here, was accidentally shot while playing in a neighbor's house, with other boys about the same age. A gun had been left in the corner of the room, loaded, and it is supposed the boys had taken it down and in playing it was discharged in some way and the contents entered the child's stomach.

GEORGIA TOWN BURNED.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9.—Special despatches from Augusta state that the town of Georgia, Ga., was the scene today of a destructive fire. The loss amounted to more than $100,000.

Canadian White Co.

WANTS THE SEWER CONTRACT.

Offers to Finish Work on Percentage Basis—Report on Taylor Work Read.

The Canadian White Co., through W. J. Carter, who is acting for them, submitted a proposition to the City Council last night to complete the sewer contract on what the railroads called the "force" work plan.

The White Company proposes that their engineer and the city engineer will together prepare an estimate of the cost of doing the work. The company would then do the work for the cost, which the city would pay, the company not handling any money at all, plus 10 per cent which the company would get for overseeing the work. In case the cost of the work went over the estimate the company would pay the excess up to the point where one half of their 10 per cent was used. If the cost were lower than the estimate the company would get one half the saving.

The council considered the proposition and laid it on the table, to come up again next Tuesday. Alderman Bellamy said the proposition looked good to him, while Alderman Manson cautioned the council to look into the proposition carefully before taking it up.

The commissioners reported the result of their negotiations to date with the Taylor Company in the form of a report. The crux of the thing so far is that the commissioners are willing to take over the entire plant except the steam shovel, which cost $6,000.

It was not questioned that the shovel was worth $6,000, but the commissioners objected that the city did not need it.

NOTHING IN IT.

Montreal, Nov. 9.—It was reported today that Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick will resign as chief justice of the supreme court to become solicitor of the G. T. P. railway at a salary of $35,000 per year. President Hays, of the G. T. P. railway, said tonight that the report was the first he had heard of the chief justice resigning to become the company's solicitor. "There is no foundation in the report," he said.

A Dozen Killed

IN COLLAPSE OF BUILDING.

Huge California Hotel in Course of Erection Collapsed.

Bulletin Special.

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 9.—The huge Bixbee hotel in course of construction on the beach here, collapsed today, supposedly because of faulty construction. Between 12 and 15 workmen were killed and more than a score of others were seriously hurt. Several of the injured may die. Fifteen others are believed to be still buried in the debris. The building was of reinforced concrete and the men were crushed to death beneath tons of mortar and iron.

NEW C. P. R. BRANCHES.

Moose Jaw, Nov. 9.—It has been learned from authoritative sources here that the C. P. R. will at the next session of parliament, apply for authority to build a new line from Weyburn westward one hundred miles to range thirty, west of the second meridian, in township four, five or six. This means a further extension of the branch line built this year from Houghton to Weyburn. It is also understood that the C. P. R. will make application to parliament to build a new line from a point on the Moose Jaw branch, somewhere near the Elbow, to the present terminus of the Lacombe branch line.

GOVERNMENT TO AID JAPS.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The government at Washington has taken steps to aid the Japanese of this city in their fight to secure admission to the public schools of San Francisco.

United States Attorney General Moody has instructed United States District Attorney Robert T. Devlin to lend his aid to the attorneys representing the Japanese in the injunction proceedings to compel the board of education to allow Japanese children to enter any of the city schools.

District Attorney Devlin refuses to discuss this latest order. He refers all questions to Secretary Metcalf, representing President Roosevelt here. Attorney Myakawa, attorney for the Japanese, stated yesterday that he had gone before the circuit court and requested that proceedings instituted by him be suspended pending the result of the investigation now being instituted by Secretary Metcalf.

Beautification

SCHEME IS DISCUSSED.

Landscape Artist May Be Asked to Prepare Plan for Edmonton and Whole Surrounding Country.

A meeting was held in the city hall this morning which, while it was impromptu, and altogether informal, will probably be very expensive in its results, as it forecasts nothing less than the adoption of a beautification scheme which the municipal and provincial governments will be asked to take up in concert for the improvement of the whole city and the river drive for miles above and below the city.

The meeting was composed of the civic interests committee of the board of trade, three members of the council and the Mayor, who assembled to confer with Mr. G. F. Todd, the landscape artist, who has been employed by the provincial government to lay out the grounds of the new parliament buildings.

Mr. Short, chairman of the board of trade, reported that he had met and conferred with Premier Rutherford, and that the premier, while he was unwilling to pledge himself to anything in the absence of his colleagues, recognized the moral responsibility of the government to work in harmony with the city on some harmonious beautification scheme, including such as the proposed boulevard from the river along the crest of the hill to Clover Bar and up the river for as many miles.

The consensus of the meeting was that the time had arrived in the history of Edmonton when a proper comprehensive beautification scheme should be adopted, and Mr. Todd was asked to stay over until Tuesday next, when the council will take the matter up. If the other members of the council coincide with the views of Aldermen Smith, Griesbach and Bellamy, who were present, Mr. Todd will be asked to prepare a beautification plan for Edmonton and environs.

It costs us twice as much to have Orange Meat absolutely clean—and does not cost YOU a penny extra. We need not be half as particular as we are—and save lots of money. Only—Orange Meat would not be the delicious delicacy—the brain and body building food it is—if we were not so insistent on cleanliness. After the wheat comes into our grain elevators from the farmers, it goes into huge vats, filled with pure water. Here the wheat is thoroughly "scrubbed" until every tiny grain is "clean as a new pin." Then, it's washed once more with fresh water "just to make sure." These extra washings—extra machinery—all mean extra expense to us. But they certainly help to make ORANGE MEAT extra good.

MR. HYMAN AND HIS OPPONENTS

The fact that charges of corrupt practices in the London bye-election in 1905 were withheld for a year and suddenly launched when and only when a number of bye-elections were pending in 1906 was in itself sufficient to justify the belief that whether the charges were true or false the method of handling them was designed less to aid justice or to clear election practices than to aid the conservative candidates in the bye-elections and to discredit the Liberal party in the country generally.

This view was strengthened by the fact that the timely release of the charges was accompanied by a black and white campaign which was conducted with the purpose of clearing the names of the Liberal candidates, and which was supplied the means which it was in the interest of the Conservative candidates that electors should know from the disclosures of the charges. This noisy accompaniment of the political investigation has continued with various alterations in tone and key until now the journals are plainly implying Mr. Hyman to resign and open the constituency for a bye-election.

On the face of things, this pleading of the Conservative press with Mr. Hyman to voluntarily vacate the seat is really good evidence that they have little hopes of compelling him to do so. It does not require a more than casual acquaintance with the common methods of political maneuvering to disclose the fact that they do not usually request Liberals to resign when they have a reasonably good feeling of chance of unseating them by process of law. As against the member who is unseated because of corrupt practices, his supporters, the member who voluntarily resigns when such practices are revealed has the advantage of the prestige gained by a supposed protest against corrupt practices. This fact is well understood by the Liberal party. Mr. Hyman is a Liberal member, and it is known that he recognizes the political value of that prestige. The Conservative press would expect to see a Liberal member, unseated by the process of law, resign as a protest against corrupt practices, and they would expect to see him resign as a protest against corrupt practices, and they would expect to see him resign as a protest against corrupt practices.

On the other hand, the fact that Mr. Hyman has declined to avail himself of the political advantage of voluntary resignation is the best circumstantial evidence that he has nothing to fear personally from the findings of the courts. Otherwise the Minister of Public Works must be a man singularly bereft of ordinary foresight. For assuming as his opponents aver with little enough reason but with a plenitude of vigor, that there is a possibility of the investigation revealing a connection between the corrupt practices of his followers and Mr. Hyman himself, it would surely be a course of more than ordinary stupidity for Mr. Hyman to retain his seat, while the investigation proceeded. To do so under such circumstances would be both to sacrifice the political advantage of resignation and to court the danger of a revelation of personal corruption, which must inevitably bring the moral sympathy of the community to his opponents. It is also a course of personal disqualification, for if Mr. Hyman's conduct in the London bye-election is the best assurance he could give that the continuance of the investigation will be terror for him.

If the gentlemen who are behind the investigation really desire the sake of justice and the purification of election contests they should acknowledge obligation to Mr. Hyman for maintaining his seat, for his continuance in office alone ensures the preparation of the inquiry. Supposing Mr. Hyman resigned and the constituency were opened, either Mr. Hyman would be re-elected, or he would be defeated, and in either event the investigation into the election of 1905 would be at an end. For if he were re-elected in 1906, who would his opponents would be found willing to continue an investigation as to how an election in 1905 was won? And if he were defeated in 1906, what reason could his opponents have for further investigating the methods by which he had been elected in 1905? Whether the investigation might legally be continued or not is not the question, for legal or illegal, it is the teaching of the history of elections—that no one would care how or by what means the elections of 1905 had been won or lost when a later contest had either endorsed or nullified the verdict. If, therefore, it is desirable that the election methods employed in London be investigated, it is no less desirable that by retaining his seat Mr. Hyman make their investigation certain. And if the opponents of Mr. Hyman really desire an investigation for the purpose of punishing the guilty and thereby bettering the election practices of the country they are under obligation to Mr. Hyman for taking a course which alone guarantees an opportunity for accomplishing this purpose; the more so that the opposite course is both the easier and holds greater immediate promise of political advantage.

Coming! Learn Dress-Making

In four days, or learn by mail in your spare time at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanders, of the Sanders' Dress-Cutting School, Stratford, Ont., Can., will visit this place on date given at bottom of advertisement, and will show how you can learn to cut, fit and put together everything in dressmaking. Course consists of eight lessons which are:

- 1st Lesson—How to take a correct measure. How to use the Little Ladies' Tailor System to fit anyone.
- 2nd Lesson—By the time you are through with this lesson you will know as much about cutting as if you worked in a shop six months or a year, and gave from $5.00 to $15.00 for a system. In this lesson you will be put in a perfect fit of system by making a waist for yourself or friend.
- 3rd Lesson—How to cut the different styles in shirt waists.
- 4th Lesson—How to cut the different styles in lined waists, by draping, pleating, yokes, reverses, boleros, etc., and putting all together. Fitting and particulars to finishing.
- 5th Lesson—How to cut to cut different kinds of sleeves and put together.
- 6th Lesson—Everything about wrappers and Princess dress.
- 7th Lesson—How to draft to cut skirts by measurement by using the rule of system only. Any kind of skirt, no matter what style, can be more easily cut than by using patterns.
- 8th Lesson—Finishing skirts, cutting coats, etc.

A few reasons why it is the best way to learn: (1) because it costs no more than the making of one dress. (2) It only takes four days, personally, or a couple of weeks by mail. (3) The whole family can learn from system and lessons you take home. (4) I have had thirteen years' experience in dress-cutting and teaching. Have taught over six thousand pupils and all were more than satisfied. I guarantee to give $5.00 to any one who can make a perfect fit after they are through—and you don't pay until you are through and are perfectly satisfied. Don't forget to call on Saturday. Farmers' daughters and ladies who have worked at dressmaking, or apprentices, specially invited.

MRS. WM. SANDERS,
Inventor and Instructor.

Will beat Yale Hotel, Calgary, from Saturday, Nov. 10, to December 1st. At Windsor Hotel, Edmonton, from Saturday, December 8th to 15th, showing method of teaching and enrolling pupils. Will be teaching in each place the week following. Don't miss this opportunity if you have any desire to learn dressmaking.

A Novice on the Athabasca

(By W. H. Footner.)

The Peace River! For thirty years the most romantic associations have clustered about that name in the north. Returning missionaries and traders have had such alluring stories to tell of the beauty and fertility of that far-off land and its delightful climate, it has come to be considered a sort of agricultural El Dorado, and no young man can rest until he has seen it. He turns his face north with the feeling that he is hot on the track of the Spirit of Romance which is always retreating before the advance of steel rails and telegraph wires.

Athabasca Landing is the jumping off place; this is the end of the telegraph wire, and the wagon road here the good-byes are said as you go "in," and here you are welcomed as you come "out." Here you bid adieu to the last luxuries of civilization in the shape of barber chairs, billiard tables, and spring beds. The Landing is the great meeting place of the north; I have heard appointments made here for a whole year ahead. One is struck by the extreme smallness of this vast country; it is a point of pride for everyone to know everyone else and what he is doing. Away up in Fort McPherson, three months' journey from Edmonton, they speak of "town" as if it were five miles off.

At the Landing the main route to the north divides. You go up the Athabasca to Lesser Slave Lake and the Peace River country on the one hand, or down the river to the string of posts on Lake Athabasca, Great Slave Lake and the Mackenzie, on the other. Through the Landing passes all the freight for the posts of the Hudson's Bay Company, Revillon Brothers and the various "free traders," and through the Landing are returned the neatly packed bales of fur, the product of the north.

One is impressed by the contrast between the endless stream of food stuffs and the wearing apparel poured into the north through this gateway and the comparatively few loads of fur which represent a fair exchange. But a single returning load may be worth ten thousand dollars. I met four small loads being driven by members of the same family on the trail from the Landing, which I was told represented $35,000. A boy of fourteen was piloting $10,000 worth of fur through the bush, half a mile behind the rest of his family.

From the Landing I had expected to travel by York boat up the Athabasca and Lesser Slave rivers and across Lesser Slave Lake, but I found transportation even more uncertain than usual. A small stern-wheeler, the Midnight Sun, plies up and down the Athabasca between Pelican Rapids, a hundred miles below the Landing and the mouth of the Lesser Slave River, 75 miles above. From the latter point it was intended to carry passengers and freight by wagon around the 25 miles of rapids in Lesser Slave River, and then have another steamer running on the balance of the river and across the Lake. A little side-wheeler, christened Northern Light, was built by young Captain Barber at the Landing for this purpose. But the water in the smaller stream was exceptionally low all summer and the Northern Light could not get up the rapids.

Light could not get up the rapids. How to get through was therefore a problem. However, the Midnight Sun came up the river in a day or two, and I engaged passage on her for the "warehouse" at the mouth of the Little river, as the Lesser Slave river is always called in distinction to the Athabasca, which is the "big" river.

The Midnight Sun is about 100 feet long. The accommodations for passengers would hardly be considered luxurious "outside," but by comparison with the usual hardships of travel in the north she is a very comfortable little vessel. There are several rough staterooms on the upper deck with bunks into which each passenger puts his own bedding. The meals are excellent.

For fellow passengers I had two San Franciscans, who having suffered through the earthquake, were striking out to seek a new fortune in the Peace River country. The elder, who was about fifty years old, was an ex-masseur and osteopathist; his young companion had been a dining car conductor. They were quite unaccustomed to roughing it, and their outfit excited open ridicule among the crew. One could not help pitying the lot of their bewildered old man, ex-cab horses from Vancouver, accustomed to smooth city streets and plenty of oats. They had two wagons loaded with all manner of unnecessary articles, such as an iron bedstead, an enormous theatrical trunk, heavy wooden doors, etc. One of their wagons was a high-seated affair, which shortly afterwards capsized against a stump nearly killing the younger man. This party was several weeks going forty miles. They were undaunted, however, and camped for the winter, determined to press forward in the spring.

The Midnight Sun left the Landing late one afternoon, and after steaming a few miles against the current, tied up to the bank for the night. Resuming her journey at dawn, all day she passed between the pine-clad banks of the Athabasca, while the passengers and crew lounged about the capstan swapping yarns. The character of the shores never changed; we rounded point after point covered with immense pine trees and occasionally poplars; the only breaks were the tracks cleaned out by fire. These patches were blue with the flower of the fire weed. Now and then we came to a little rapid up which the Midnight Sun churned slowly. The ordinary speed of the current was about three miles an hour. A single hut on the bank built as a stopping place for travelers over the ice in winter and the mail man coming down stream in a Peterboro canoe, were the only evidences of life. I was told that above the woods on the north bank stretched several rich tracts of prairie land.

At four o'clock a landing was made at Moose Portage for wood, and shortly afterwards we approached the most difficult place in the river, where an island divides the channel, and the river spreads out wide and shallow on each side. It is a place had been causing apprehension in the breast of Phillips, the half-breed pilot, all day. Choosing the most promising opening, he drove his boat cautiously ahead, but soon grounded; there was less than two feet of water in the channel. Finding that he could not put her through under her own steam unaided, he allowed her to drift on a shoal while preparations were made to drag her over the stones.

First a half mile of hawser was coiled in the "skiff." This skiff torrents. I kept making elaborate futile calculations as to the speed I was travelling at, which I judged was something less than a mile an hour, and I decided it would take me about three days longer to reach the lake. The most exasperating thing was the way in which the little river, bent and twisted and doubled on itself. They were not horseshoe curves, but hairpin curves. Late in the afternoon when I was resigning myself to a dreary night in the rain, the sun struggled out for a few minutes. About that time I crawled around one of the interminable bends and felt a fresher breeze on my face, bearing the indescribable smell of a large body of water. I looked up, and there away before me lay the broad lake with white caps dancing outside on the bar. I had made the twenty-five miles at last. It was very good to come to a hut, a fire, and to hear English-speaking voices once more and I was relieved to learn that it was not twenty-five but forty-five miles.

Perils of the North

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The qualities of the men who compose the Royal Northwest Mounted Police has often been demonstrated, but rarely have fidelity, devotion to duty, fearlessness, unselfishness, and indomitable determination been manifested in greater degree than was displayed last winter in a journey made by Constable Seller, amounting in all to about 395 miles. The trip was made in company of Interpreter Ford and an Eskimo named Tupealock. It was undertaken for the purpose of locating the whereabouts of a Scottish ship, the Ernest William, and ascertaining her liability to the customs duty for supplies imported. Constable Seller probably receives pay to the amount of about a dollar and a half a day, but, without a murmur, he entered upon and successfully accomplished a journey attended by great hardships, and which many an explorer would have been proud of relating. The recital of Seller's trip is contained in a diary, which has just been received at the Mounted Police Department. Nothing more modest or unaffected than the account of the long journey and the difficulties met with and surmounted could be imagined.

Constable Seller, with his two companions and a dog team of ten, left Fullerton on the west coast of Hudson's Bay, on February 21st last. They returned on April 19th, having been exposed for two months to the rigors of an Arctic winter. The only casualty was a frost-bitten leg of one dog that was left behind at Lyon's Inlet. On the way to their destination and back intensely cold weather was encountered, and many blizzards. At night snow houses were built for shelter, called by the Eskimos "igloos." Herds of deer were seen, and several were shot for food. For a couple of days, however, both men and dogs went on short rations. Had it not been for falling in with a party of natives, they would at one time have been in desperate straits. For a great part of the journey the food had to be eaten frozen, because the alcohol and wood gave out.

Here are a few extracts which show the nature of the hardships encountered on the journey. "We have only fifty pounds of deer meat, two pounds of pemmican, and six pounds of boiled meat for ourselves and the ten dogs, so we must find natives. Very cold day. I had both my feet badly frozen. My footgear is in a very bad state—wet and worn out. We were compelled to break up some barrels to cook food, as we had been subsisting on frozen meat for the last three days."

"Terrible snowstorm. Impossible to go out looking for natives. Our dogs are getting hungry as they have had nothing for three days. We cannot possibly give them anything out of what small supply we have for ourselves. My feet are very sore, the result of frost burns."

"Bad storm, but not nearly so bad as yesterday. I sent Ford and Tupealock out to look for natives. They returned at 5 p. m., bringing us information that cheered us quite a little. The ship they learned was at Melachusectuck, the place where ghosts chase women. They brought some meat for the dogs, and said the natives, who belong to the Nittulick tribe, would come in the morning with as much meat as they could spare."

"Still storming. Finished up all our meat for breakfast. About noon the natives came in, bringing about 400 pounds of meat, which I purchased from them. It was nearly all seal meat. We found it rather high all by itself, but hunger is a great sauce."

In due course the party reached the vessel for which they were searching, and received a hearty Scottish welcome from her commander, Captain Murray, who fitted them out with stores for the return journey.

Here is the last item in Constable Seller's diary: "April 19th. Broke camp at sunrise (about 4 a. m.) and made the detachment about 2.30 p. m. Some few miles from barracks I noticed the flag at half-mast, which told me plainly that what I feared had come to pass. On arrival my thoughts were confirmed on hearing that Staff-Sergeant Hayne had passed away the night before. We were just in time to attend the funeral. The report of Constable Seller contains much valuable information about the country traversed and the natives met with. He mentions a rumor current among the natives that in the winter of 1905 a white man belonging to a ship wintering in the Arctic was killed by the Nittulick tribe. The white men retaliated by killing three Eskimos and all their dogs. Constable Seller believes that such thing may have happened in connection with the Norwegian sloop Gjoa.

LECTURE.

Correspondence.

Rev. Robert Simpson, a Presbyterian minister of Penhold, Alberta, who has spent several years in the Peace River country, especially in the region of Spirit River, a tributary into the Peace, near Dunvegan, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture in the Penhold Presbyterian church last Thursday evening. The lecture was given with a view to answer an endless number of letters that were constantly streaming in to Mr. Simpson regarding the climate and resources of the Peace River country.

In opening his lecture Mr. Simpson quoted the words of the Bishop of Selkirk in writing for the promoters of the trans-Canada railroad in 1903: "Then you come to the Peace River, which I deem one of the chief gems of the whole Dominion. I think it is certain to be settled up as soon as a railway reaches it. It has been a shame that so fair a country should remain unsettled for want of means of communication."

Before Mr. Simpson went to the Peace River he gathered all the reports of surveys, botanists and travellers, and after spending seven years he says he would not change a word that has been written.

The Chinooks are strong and frequent, rendering the climate more moderate and salubrious than that which obtains at Penhold and infinitely more so than Manitoba or Dakota. Nine inches of snow has been melted in one day. The mercury has been known to fall to 45 degrees.

Concerning frosts, Mr. Simpson says they are prevalent, but no more so than in Manitoba in the early days. At present all the settlements are in the valleys, 800 feet below the surrounding country, and consequently more liable to the ravages of frost than on the highlands. This is borne out by the fact that the trees in the valleys are frosted two weeks earlier.

Mr. Simpson studied the soil and says there is one foot to eighteen inches of black loam, equal to anything in the west, and with a fine subsoil. Such land in Manitoba would be called superior wheat land. The settlers have successfully grown wheat, barley, rye and buckwheat. In 1904 wheat sown on April 30th was reaped on August 28th. Oats sown on the same date were reaped on August 22. In 1903, Red Fife wheat, grown on the Church of England mission at St. John, yielded 70 bushels to the acre. On the 11th of June, Mr. Simpson left Fort St. John after one of the severest frosts known there for years. He came straight to Edmonton and says he saw more disastrous effects of the same frost within 20 miles of Edmonton.

Vegetables and tomatoes are grown in abundance. Wild fruits are characteristic of the country. Strawberries ripen by the 2nd of July. Gooseberries ripen on the 30th of June, while raspberries, saskatoons and cranberries are found everywhere.

In the Upper Peace there are large deposits of limestone. Coal outcrops at various points, especially where the small streams cut into the bank of the Peace. The Smoky River country has any quantity of coal.

Mr. Simpson says that all that is necessary to open that country is a better means of transportation to supersede the slow and tedious York boats, and desultory and fickle behavior of those in charge.

The importance of the lecture consists in the fact that all Mr. Simpson said confirms and establishes the favorable reports that have been constantly in circulation regarding it. The lecture was given from the notes of his diary.
